

Executive Summary

My final project will be an instructional website for beginners in chess. This website is intended for people of all skill levels, but especially people who are interested in getting their hands dirty with the fundamentals of the game. It will cover the basics such as game rules, how the pieces move, the history of the game, and some additional resources. My hope is that this website will help spark the interest of people that want to get into chess, but feel overwhelmed and do not know where to start.
